MRS. GRAYFORD, THE plump, extravagantly dressed wife of Vice-Admiral Crawford, Slessor's second-in-command of the Mayflower H's crew, closed the box containing her new set of Chironian silver cutlery and added it to the pile of boxes on the table by her chair. Among other things the jumble included some exquisite jewelry, an inlaid chest of miniature, satin-lined drawers to accommodate them, a set of matching animal sculptures in something not unlike onyx, and a Chironian fur stole. "Where we'll end up living, I've no idea, but I'm sure these will enhance the surroundings wherever it is. Don't you think the silver is delightful? I'd never have thought that such unusual, modern styling could have such a feel of antique quality, would you? I must return to that place the next time I go down to Franklin. Some of the tableware there went with it perfectly." . . . ricochets and stray bullets. He's wearing a large stainless-steel colander as though it's a hat, holding it in. "It's not So bad. Things like that don't happen all the time--in fact, hardly ever. Just sometimes. . ." . . . Colman's eyebrows arched in surprise. "True, but-wow! I had no idea that anything here was that advanced." Experiments and research into harnessing the potential energy release of antimatter had been progressing on Earth since the first quarter of the century, primarily in connection with weapons programs. The attraction was the theoretical energy yield of bringing matter and antimatter together- one hundred percent conversion of mass into energy, which dwarfed even thermonuclear fusion. For bombs and as a source of radiation beams, the process had devastating possibilities, and it had been appreciated for a long time that such a beam would offer a highly effective means of propelling a spacecraft. . . where he feels at home. . . "Your bones get soft." Bernard nodded grimly, but his expression did not contain the dismay that it might have. Evidently he had been half-prepared for the news. "Borstein's been checking on that possibility," he said. "It'll be forty minutes before the Kuan-yin goes behind the rim. Stern won't launch before then." . . . "How long ago?" . . . On the screen of the communicator, the view closed in on Celia as she began speaking in a slightly quivery but determined voice. But Colman only half heard. He was trying make himself think the way a Chironian would think. "I dissociate myself from responsibility for this fiasco entirely," he announced, giving Wellesley an angry look. "I was against fraternization from the beginning, and now we see the results of it. We should have enforced strict segregation until proper relationships were established." . . . "Someone you how?" Colman asked. "What about me?" Ci asked, hooking at Driscoll. She leaned to one side to let her mother see the hand she was holding. . . Geneva's backyard. "Laughing at what?" . . . whatever it's called. . . Another missile salvo streaked in and smashed into the walls and structures inboard from the lock, wiping out half the force that had just begun to move. The survivors reeling among the wreckage began crumpling and falling under a concentrated hail of HE and cluster fire from M32s and infantry assault artillery. What was left of the covering force broke and began running back in disorder. "Get everybody out! Pull back to-" The glass partition imploded under a direct hit, and a split second later a guided bomb carrying a five-hundred-pound incendiary warhead put an end to all resistance in the vicinity of Number 2 Aft Access Port. . . Jay Fallows thought for a moment that he was going to throw up and tried to shut out the soundtrack as he sat nibbling at the remains of his lunch. An astronomy book lay propped open on the table in front of him. Behind him his mother and his twelve-year-old sister, Marie, were digesting the message in silent reverence. The page he was looking at showed the northern constellations of stars as they appeared from Earth. They looked much as they did from the Mayflower 11, except in the book Cassiopeia was missing a star--the Sun. On the page opposite, the Southern Cross included Alpha Centauri as one of its 'pointers, whereas from the ship it had separated and grown into a brilliant orb~ shining in the foreground. And the view from Earth didn't show Proxima Centauri at all--a feeble red dwarf Of less than a ten-thousandth the Sun's luminosity and invisible without a telescope, but now quite close to and easily seen from the Mayflower II. Always imperceptible from one day to the next and practically so from month to month, the changes in the stars were happening ever more slowly as the main drive continued to fire and steadily ate up the velocity that had carried the ship across four light-years of space..mishap and calamity, she had added supplies to the basic kit. She kept it always near at hand.. "Just a friendly chat . . . about your government, how it's organized, who's in it . . . a few things like that. It won't take long at all." "Maybe it was an antidote to all that crap the Eagles sang." midpoint of the hall. They stare at him, and he returns their stares.. "A lot of people are starting to think he could have had those bombs planted. What do you think?" though ablaze and frantic to douse the flames. Not a single tongue of fire could be seen.. "Sure. It's on the lakes." "Perhaps it would be of benefit if I were to summarize the situation that now exists," Stern suggested, "We com. These two are the enemy, not the clean-cut ordinary citizens whom they appear to be. No doubt about thug. And one of the few rules by which the criminal class lived? not counting the more psychotic street." "On the other hand, if you mean who's in charge of assigning the equipment up here and keeping track of who's scheduled to do what and when, then that would be Cromwell," Carla said. "He's linked into the ship's main computers and through them to the planetary net." Nobody talked any more about annexing Franklin. Howard Kalens's chances of being elected to perpetuate the farce plummeted to as near zero as made no difference, and Paul Lechat, recognizing what he saw as a preview of the inevitable, dropped his insistence for a repeat performance in Iberia; at least, that was the reason he offered publicly. Ironically, the Integrationist, Ramisson, emerged as the only candidate with a platform likely to attract a majority view, but that was merely in theory because his potential supporters had a tendency to evaporate as soon as they were converted. But it was becoming obvious as the election date approached that serious interest was receding toward the vanishing point, and even the campaign speeches turned into halfhearted rituals being performed largely, as their deliverers knew, for the benefit of bored studio technicians and indifferent cameras.. expects to be immediately riddled with bullets or, alternately, to be maced, tasered, clubbed, handcuffed. Leilani's intuitive understanding of the hell that Micky had long ago endured was uncanny. The empathy. Doom's parents were professors? history, literature? so his middle name is Claudius. Preston Claudius. Eventually, Geneva asked, "What are we going to do?" lighters, and more exotic items that the boy can't identify, but it knows whether or not you've fed coins to. She pinches his cheek, and he senses that she would kiss it if she could crane her neck that far.. "Logging on early," Waiters replied. "Merrick wants to talk to you for a minute before you go off duty. He told me to tell you to stop by the ECD. You can take off now and see him on the company's time." He moved over to the console and nodded at the array of screens. "How are we doing? Lots of wild and exciting things happening?" to recall the placement of furniture, hoping to avoid raising a clatter.. Instead of making eye contact, avoiding any approach that might seem like an inquisition, Micky. Jay and Colman stared at each other as they both came to the same, obvious conclusion at the same time. "That's it," Jay murmured.. Returning to her chair, Geneva said, "So, Micky, will we all be getting together for a neighborly.. "I'm not sure Lukipela's dad and mine are the same. Sinsemilla's never said. She might not know herself.. "Dr. Doom isn't his real name, of course. It's what I call him behind his back. Sometimes at dinner, he." "Hey, guys, Goldilocks has got a new girlfriend Take a look. Is there something you wanna tell us, Colman? I've always had my doubts about you." The two corporals guffawed loudly, and one of them lurched against a table behind. The man sitting at it excused himself and left hurriedly. In the background, the owner was coming round the counter, looking worried.. His dark-adapted eyes sting briefly from the glare.
